Bank of Ireland expands Specialist Deposits Services team

Bank of Ireland has appointed Sorcha Mulligan as Relationship Director to join its Specialist Deposits Services team and their growing London and South client portfolio.

Sorcha joins having spent 9 years at AIB, the last two spent as Treasury Business Development Manager.

She joins the current Specialist Deposits Services team headed up by Benny Cribben, to provide high level support to new and existing customers in the London and South Region.

Benny Cribben, Head of London and South Specialist Deposits Services, said: "We are delighted to welcome Sorcha, her experience at AIB will prove invaluable to the business. She brings with her a wealth of Treasury knowledge that will help to support our customers and continue to grow our business deposits."
